

I Like Where This Is Going

Cale Dodds

Down a two-lane with no name
I'm halfway to your place
Watching wheat fields bend
While the slow dance wind is blowing
When I pull up I see you
In a sundress with your sun-kissed shoulder showing
Yeah, I like where this is going

The stars ain't started to glow
But we both know that they're all coming
The cork still stuck in the bottle
But that bottle's in your hand
The needle ain't on the vinyl yet, but I'm dropping it
'Cause you're already starting to dance
It kinda feels like this whole night is in slow motion
I like where this is going

If I had to guess what would happen next
It'd be your head on my chest
While the clock on the wall will stand still like it's broken
Maybe one kiss turns into two
Turns into me waking up with you in the morning
Yeah, I like where this is going

The stars ain't started to glow
But we both know that they're all coming
The cork's still stuck in the bottle
But that bottle's in your hand
The needle ain't on the vinyl yet, but I'm dropping it
'Cause you're already starting to dance
It kinda feels like this whole night is in slow motion
I like where this is going

The stars ain't started to glow
But we both know that they're all coming
The cork's still stuck in the bottle
But that bottle's in your hand
The needle ain't on the vinyl yet, but I'm dropping it
'Cause you're already starting to dance
It kinda feels like this whole night is in slow motion
I like where this is going

I like it
Yeah, I like it
I like where this is going
I like it
Yeah, I like it
I like where this is going
I like it
Yeah, I like it
I like where this is going
I like it, yeah
