

Red Light Green Light

Caleb Gordon

Yeah, ayy
Ayy, 2000, E-S-T
O-C-O-E-E

Red light, green light, stop it
We do it for the love, it ain't only for the profit
I got homies doin' drugs and I pray they get up off it
Don't let that nightlife take you to the coffin (Okay, okay)
Look at my life as a offerin' (Okay, okay)
You ever seen a king carry crosses? (Okay, okay)
Thoughts in my mind like a moshpit
So sick, my diagnosis, need a doctor
Coastin', I didn't notice that my heart was-
Broken, I couldn't focus 'til You offered-
Answers, 'cause I was hopeless, needed water
Answers, 'cause I was hopeless, needed water
Fill me up, ocean
This song I wrote, be my heart's devotion
I follow You, Lord, wherever You goin'
You know what I need

Do you remember how we stepped in?
Fightin' battles, kickin' demons out, just like it's Tekken
I felt that pressure from my dawgs as a freshman
They said, "Why wait? Get in that water, get to testin'"
All that did was teach me lessons
Graduated, I ain't get no calls or no check-ins no more
Don't let nobody change yo' mindset
Say they rockin' but soon as you conscious, they go Usain
No more options, I hopped in the booth and I went Flu Game
Lord told me, "Go", "Ayy, okay", OJ Da Juiceman
Back then, I was movin' Dark Knight, Wayne Bruce, Bruce Wayne
It's so hard to be solid when you two-faced
G-O-D, we tied together, like a shoelace
Trust me, you can come home, it's never too late

Red light, green light, stop it
We do it for the love, it ain't only for the profit
I got homies doin' drugs and I pray they get up off it
Don't let that nightlife take you to the coffin (Okay, okay)
Look at my life as a offerin' (Okay, okay)
You ever seen a king carry crosses? (Okay, okay)
Thoughts in my mind like a moshpit
So sick, my diagnosis, need a doctor
