

DIVIDED

Caliban

I'm divided like America
Between coma and hysteria
Stars and stripes
Black and white, red and blue
Who am I - America, America

America, America
America, America

I can't wake anyone up who's pretending to sleep
You seek confirmation
Not the truth underneath
You call me names and turn up the heat
I don't care about color, sex or your creed
We split down the middle
Half hero - half villain
We're different, but equal

I'm divided like America
Between coma and hysteria
Stars and stripes
Black and white, red and blue
Who am I - America, America

America, America
America, America

The humble change of your inner self
Becomes the change of the world one day
We're all confused, but let's be brave
Cause love is always stronger than hate
Let's celebrate our shared humanity
Why can't we disagree more constructively!?

We are one
We are in this together
We are one
We are in this together

I'm divided like America
Between coma and hysteria
Stars and stripes
Black and white, red and blue
Who am I - America, America
I'm divided like America
Between coma and hysteria
Stars and stripes
Black and white, red and blue
Who am I - America, America

America, America
America, America

We are one
We are one
