

Say That You're Leaving

Cam Meekins

So you say that you're leaving
But Ima care for you one time
I know it's hard for you to believe it
You say it's barely on my mind

So you say that you're leaving
But Ima care for you one time
I know it's hard for you to believe it
You say it's barely on my mind

So you say that you're leaving
But Ima care for you one time
I know it's hard for you to believe it
You say it's barely on my mind

So you say that you're leaving
But Ima care for you one time
I know it's hard for you to believe it
You say it's barely on my mind

I feel like I've seen a lot of things
Through my eyes, I'm blind step into my mind and what you'll find I've confined since adolescence I've been buying time
I moved you out, you went to college
And now you graduated had a baby and I called this
And you called me crazy so I had to skate and find my calling
Threw out all my clothes and I moved all of my things to California
I almost married you and shout out Erica I know she had them feelings too
I'm staying on the move, my brothers need some new shoes
She said I never stay committed
Remember pulling over on the highway just to hit it from the back
I know you like that, that's your favorite shit
I'm having trouble with my mind, it's always changing shit
Cause see we don't know how to love
Nobody set an example
I'm moving far from home
This world is lonely, making my hands full Choosing fame and money, I ain't got the time for that
The devils got a hold of me but I'll get it back
Cause you could take the diamond chains
But you can't ever take the pain
Seeing the children that's growing up, it's not the same
Our world isn't ready for love
I think we need some time to heal
I'm tryna remind myself today I need some time to feel
Cause I still miss waking up next to you
It's got me texting you
But Nah I don't be stressing you when I could be undressing you

Let's take it back, you said I never really cared
I wanna show you why I'm really still there

So you say that you're leaving
But Ima care for you one time
I know it's hard for you to believe it

You say it's barely on my mind

So you say that you're leaving
But Ima care for you one time
I know it's hard for you to believe it
You say it's barely on my mind

And I ain't focused on all their opinions of us
But what's the deal, 'cause my momma keep on bringing you up
She keep on throwing your name in conversations again
I know you waited on me, I see your patience is thin
I checked your socials, don't you lie I know you dating again
I seen this story before, shit I hate how it ends
I put my life into music, I've been watching it grow
You mentioned space then I went and moved the opposite coast
I'm really good at acting like I got it under control
We just ain't kids anymore, ain't getting younger, you know?
I got a laundry list of things that left me tired up
And arguments that left me fired up
A fuel in the flame but who is to blame
Guess when all said and done I hope that you entertain
She out the door and she saying that she leaving Shit and she ain't even give a reason guess we even

So you say that you're leaving
But Ima care for you one time
I know it's hard for you to believe it
You say it's barely on my mind

So you say that you're leaving
But Ima care for you one time
I know it's hard for you to believe it
You say it's barely on my mind

You say it's barely on my mind
Getting high like all the time
And no doubt that we will shine
We make it out we'll be just fine

You say it's barely on my mind
Getting high like all the time
And no doubt that we will shine
We make it out we'll be just fine
