

Hungover on Heartache

Cam

Torn to pieces with a bullhorn fight
I think we'll be alright
Made amends, but we can't pretend
The stings aren't gonna bite

Coming around like a steamroller wheel
We'll be a little stronger when we can heal
But that's gonna take time

Hungover on heartache
Shot for shot, now we're feeling it today
Either way, things have to change
Yeah, we're tattooed with the words that won't wash away
Didn't think I would feel this way
I get sick when you mention her name
Wish I didn't have to face you today
Hungover on heartache

A drunk mind always speaks the truth
But I'm sober now laying next to you
The world outside is moving on
How can they act like nothing's wrong?

Never knew how hard it could be
Having you see the worst part of me
But that's gonna take time

Hungover on heartache
Shot for shot, now we're feeling it today
Either way, things have to change
Yeah, we're tattooed with the words that won't wash away
Didn't think I would feel this way
I get sick when you mention her name
Wish I didn't have to face you today
Hungover on heartache

We opened the bottle
Poured out the hurt and fears we kept away
There's no going back now
We're a wreck, but we can't look away
(I can see how you and me have gotta grow up)
And that's gonna take time

Hungover on heartache
Went shot for shot, now we're feeling it today
Either way, things have to change
Yeah, we're tattooed with the words that won't wash away
Didn't think I would feel this way
But I get sick when you mention her name
Wish I didn't have to face you today
Hungover on heartache
Hungover on heartache
Hungover on heartache
