

Little Voice

Cam

Little voice, I tried callin' you.
And why you'd hide is between me and you.
But I could use some answers now.

Who'd've thought? Life gets so threatening.
I whistled twice. Are you even listening?
I'd prefer you spoke up now.

'Cause you can polish every road 'til it shines,
And find the lesson learned in the worst of times.
Which reminds me:

Up to now, I thought I could go it alone.
But I forgot there's a calm just before the storm.
I could use my conscience now.

'Cause you can polish every road 'til it shines,
And find the lesson learned in the worst of times.
And finally she said:

"Little one, you're too brave to cry.
The world is small, and you've got your whole mind.
So just love where you can.
Just love where you can.

'Cause you can polish every road 'til it shines,
And find the lesson learned in the worst of times.
So be kind, and love where you can."
