CamelPhat

I, I know everyone hurts differently
As a shadow washes over me
I just don't wanna leave
I, I know anyone can slip away
It doesn't always have to be this way
Over and over again

But it isn't you that I've been running from
Will you still be there when I come back home
I come back home
Because it isn't you that I've been running from
Will you still be there when I come back home
I come back home

I, I know everyone hurts differently
As a shadow washes over me
I just don't wanna leave
I, I know anyone can slip away
It doesn't always have to be this way
Over and over again

But it isn't you that I've been running from
Will you still be there when I come back home
I come back home
Because it isn't you that I've been running from
Will you still be there when I come back home
I come back home
