

Tiny Hands

Can't Swim

All in black head to toe
Glasses fake, but I guess nobody knows
Tiny hands, heart of gold
Tough as nails but you never let it show
I knew it quick on the first day
Something different, life would never be the same
Not enough, I couldn't keep up
But the love still remains

You said "this comes once in a lifetime"
Was hoping you were wrong
You said "this comes once in a lifetime"
I guess you were right

Never want to bring you down
Never want to hear the sound
Of your voice cracking against mine
Never want to bring you down
Never want to hear the sound
Of your voice cracking against mine

No matter how I seem to end my days
Thinking 'bout reasons I ran away
Caught up in myself again
An old habit with no meaning to an end
I knew it quick on the last day
The feeling that you had for me was going to stay
Not enough, I couldn't keep up
But the love still remains

You said "this comes once in a lifetime"
Was hoping you were wrong
You said "this comes once in a lifetime"
I guess you were right

Never want to bring you down
Never want to hear the sound
Of your voice cracking against mine
Never want to bring you down
Never want to hear the sound
Of your voice cracking against mine

I look back at the man that I've become
Someone who isn't me
Someone who isn't me