

I'm So Green

Can

I'm a preacher sweating in the pews
For the salvation I'm bringing you
I'm a salesman, I'm selling you hooks and plans
And myself for making demands

When I'm home alone I just dance by myself
And you pull my head so close, volume goes with the truth
Signing off, "I'm all right in bed but I'm better with a pen"
The kid was alright but it went to his head

I am god's gift, but why would he bless me with Such wit without a conscience equipped
I'm addicted to the way I feel when I think of you, woah
"There's too much green to feel blue"

When I'm home alone I just can't stop myself
And you pull my head so close, volume goes with the truth
Signing off, "I'm all right in bed but I'm better with a pen"
The kid was alright but it went to his head

When I'm home alone I just can't stop myself.
And you pull my head so close, volume goes with the truth
Signing off, "I'm all right in bed but I'm better with a pen"
"I'm alright in bed but I'm better with a pen"
"I'm alright in bed but I'm better with a pen"
The kid was alright but it went to his head
