

Shell over Bone

Cancer

Feeble hands grasping at straws
The sinew once maliciously torn
Grows shell over bone

The claws have become decrepit
Blunted in manipulation
And fail to control baring no form
To strangle evolution

I choose to dwell in darkness
And rattle a beggar's tin
Feed through rubble
Rot in sin