

The Last Goodbye

Candice Night

They say that we come from two different worlds
And right now I feel like that's true
I knew there'd be battles to face in this life
I just never thought they'd be against you
But time has a way of erasing the pain
And making things seem brand new
But sooner or later you come face to face
With what you thought was the truth

And I wonder, could we start over
I wonder could we even try
I wonder will we ever see eye to eye
Or is this our last goodbye

I wish I could turn back the page to the time
When you could read my mind
The answers to questions I didn't know yet
Were all right there in your eyes
Now you can't remember and I can't forget
So we stay here in this place
I want to reach out but I'm frozen in time
I just can't walk away

And I wonder, could we start over
I wonder should we even try
I wonder will we ever see eye to eye
Or is this our last goodbye

And if the stars refused to shine
If the words ran out of rhyme
If we just ran out of time
Would we... could we...?

And if we could do it all over again
Do you think we'd wind up here
All of those moments with so much unsaid
Words are trapped in a tear
I feel like the moon that is pulling the tides
Of a boat that is lost at sea
I spent so many hours trying to figure us out
I forgot what's it's like to be me

And I wonder, could we start over
I wonder should we even try
I wonder will we ever see eye to eye
Or is this our last goodbye

Goodbye...
