

100 Lovers

Cannons

This was not a love song for you
I was sitting in my bedroom thinking about someone new
Well, once again you came into my head from the blue
One hundred lovers replace no one, no one like you

I waited for you and I held onto
Everything you said, it was racing through my head
And I don't want to need you the way I do
Need you, I need you, need you the way I do

This was not a love song for you
Now I'm thinking back to times when
You would make my world spin, it was you
But ever since you left me, every star did too
One hundred lovers replace no one, no one like you

I waited for you and I held onto
Everything you said, it was racing through my head
And I don't want to need you the way I do
Need you, I need you, need you the way I do
