

The Beach

Cannons

Drove to the beach 'cause I couldn't stop from burning
Your rolling eyes, feelings that you burden
But you like to fight dirty
And I fight differently
I'm throwing sand at the wind and just waiting
For it to come back around again
And I doubt you
Even worry

I fell in love for a minute
I saw my life with you in it
I gave you my love but you ran away with it
So no, I know, no, you couldn't handle my love
I fell in love for a minute
I saw my life with you in it
I gave you my love but you ran away with it
So no, I know, no, you couldn't handle my love

I'm face-to-face with a renegade lover
You wore me out and took me down like no other
'Cause you love like a cold, dark summer
And you've got me running for cover
Sit by the sea and watch the waves as they roll out
A steady gaze as I feel my heart flicker out
And I doubt you
Even worry

I fell in love for a minute
I saw my life with you in it
I gave you my love but you ran away with it
So no, I know, no, you couldn't handle my love
I fell in love for a minute
I saw my life with you in it
I gave you my love but you ran away with it
So no, I know, no, you couldn't handle my love
