

Empty page lies on the table
Clear my mind again
Reach through the ether
On the edge of nothing
For something new to say
Will the words reflect you
As you might expect them to

Everything you rush
Everything you heed
Goes in and out with everything I breathe
All the ones you touch
All that you perceive
Goes up & down with all that I beleive
Everything I wish my heart could bleed

I chose the path of most resistance
Help me find my way
The endless scenes and coversations
That fill this empty page
Now the words reflect you
And now the words upset you too

Everything you rush

Everything you heed
Goes in and out with everything I breathe
All the ones you touch
All that you perceive
Goes up & down with all that I beleive
It's everything I wish my heart could bleed

Here's walking in the sun
In the pouring rain
It's keeping me dark
It's keeping me sane
Forget about that pain
Can't you feel it fade away
Forget about that pain

Everything you rush
Everything you heed
Goes in and out with everything I breathe
All the ones you touch
All that you perceive
Goes up & down with all that I beleive

Everything I wish my heart could bleed