

The Granulating Dark Satanic Mills

Carcass

From the weeping womb to the tomb
Towering fuming smokestacks loomed Aloft the emancipated industrial mercantile maroon

Your heirs will be deprived this fate
A penitentiary as consumer villeins Never to enter through the grim rusting factory gates

Six, zero, two, six
Nine, six, one

Torn apart in the soul destroying...

Six, zero, two, six
Nine, six, one

The granulating dark satanic mills...

Subsisting shackled drudgers & drones
Disassembly line of skin & bone Collieries not beaches lie beneath the paving stones

When chattel black turned to white
Rigid binding chains were hidden from sight
The unborn will quench the thirstful smouldering kiln\'s fires

Six, zero, two, six
Nine, six, one

Torn apart in the soul destroying...

Six, zero, two, six
Nine, six, one

Sweat & no redemption in the dark satanic mills

An existence, subservient, binded you\'ll see \"A working class hero is something to be\"
An existence, subservient, blinded you\'ll seed
A working class hero is something to bleed