Carcosa

My wrath has only just begun
You made my list, so you better run
The Black Mamba doesn't bow to anyone

They left me for dead with a bullet through my head
The price you'll pay embedded in my blade
I have awakened full of venom to kill
This atrophy was never going to stop me

One swipe from me and you'll be on your knees
Begging and pleading me for a sweet release
You're a coward in fear and should be running away
Bittersweet, I won't forget this day
The world stood still, I could see our breath
I will grant you a warrior's death
You will be the last I've slain in cruel and agonizing pain

Face me
Drenched in the blood of my foe
Face me
Dressed in the white of the snow
No heed
I shall proceed
My sword will sing the melodies
Cries of fallen enemies

Spare me from this tragedy
I am longing for eternal sleep
To the edges of eternity
I shall break the chains that hold me down under the weight...

For your sake, I hope you find a place
To hide your face from everyone, a memory erased
You coward!
Come and face me in the final hour!

Save yourself from this encroaching nightmare
I am coming for your life to end my terror
Save yourself from this encroaching nightmare
Stake your final claim for I am despair

You are vermin
I must exterminate

For my honour
Come and face me in the final hour

Spare me from this tragedy
I am longing for eternal sleep
To the edges of eternity
I shall break the chains that hold me down under the weight

Hold me down under this weight
She deserves her revenge and we deserve to die
For my honour
