

No Light Shall Save Us

Carnifex

Dark are the souls buried in the depths
Drawn forth to serve then die again
Palms carved on the alters of death
With one command, to hell descend

Blessed are the damned
As they're screaming for answers
Humanities mass grave, buried in disasters
This is the echo of their last words

This hell is home
Scorched earth seduction
Now you die alone
This hell is home
From above and below
Death enthroned

We stole the stars from the sky
From the hand of god to death divine
We stole the light from their eyes
Condemning the world to eternal night

Above the earth we command the flames
In the dead of night on ravens wings
Only to return when the earth is dust
No light shall save us
No light

Dark are the souls buried in the depths
Drawn forth to serve then die again
Palms carved on the alters of death
With one command, to hell descend

Swept away in apocalyptic rapture
Death of the earth and everything after
Until the oceans turn black
We might find the light
But we'll never find our way back

We stole the stars from the sky
From the hand of god to death divine
We stole the light from their eyes
Condemning the world to eternal night
We stole the stars from the sky
We stole the light from their eyes

Eternal night

Above the earth we command the flames
In the dead of night on ravens wings
Only to return when the earth is dust
No light shall save us
No light shall save us
No light
