

Someone Who Wasn't You

Caroline Jones

Baby boy, I'm looking up
And I ain't ever looking back
You were giving up on love
Funny enough, and just like that

Add our futures together, you know it's just getting better
This love is an itch that we'll be scratching forever
And I never could have told myself
I was stubborn as hell
But if I could kiss and tell
Now with this intel

I can't believe I wasted one second
Trying to make it work with someone who wasn't you
Someone who wasn't
You won't believe the lengths I went to
Unnecessary hurt that I put myself through
For someone who wasn't you, ooh

Darling you were right on time
I just wish I would have known
To trust it all a little more
'Cause the happiness that was in store

Answered all of my questions, validated my discretion
Every cliché of romance points your direction
A connection I never felt before
But I wasn't meant to
Now I know for sure
I was waiting for you

I can't believe I wasted one second
Trying to make it work
With someone who wasn't you
Someone who wasn't
You won't believe the lengths I went to
Unnecessary hurt that I put myself through
For someone who wasn't you-ooh-oh-ooh
I didn't know better til I found the best
It's all a lesson; I have no regrets
It's just so silly that I cried me to sleep at night
Over someone who wasn't you are the one

It's so obvious now
Ain't it funny?
It's so obvious now
It's so obvious now
It's so obvious now

Baby boy we're looking up
And we ain't ever looking back

I didn't know better til I found the best
It's all a lesson; I have no regrets
It's just so silly I ever cried me to sleep at night
Over someone who wasn't you
If that girl only knew
