You're the One

Carpenters

Every night, every day You're the one I always dream of Every line of your face is sketched so plain inside my heart You've grown so deep inside of me You're everything I feel and see And you're the one, you're the one I love

All my life, all my love I can feel when you're beside me All that's right, all that's wrong Suddenly becomes so clear My heart has overtaken me With feelings you awake in me And you're the one You're the one I love

Only you could move me enough to believe In love one more time All I need to know for tomorrow Is that you're mine Mine for a lifetime

If our friends all around Find it hard to understand us You and I understand The other one so very well And that's what I've been looking for So I keep coming back for more 'Cause you're the one

You're the one I love You're the one I love
