

Six String

Carter Faith

You drove me straight to Vegas
You told me "Babe, let's take this all the way"
A hundred miles, we were singing "Come What May"

You put my name in love songs
And watched my crazy turn on Stronger than a couple hundred bottles of Johnny Red

You say, "Quit shaking"
But I can't take it

You broke me like a promise
And wonder why I'm breaking down
You spin me like a record and wonder why I repeat myself
You loved me all to pieces
And wonder why I can't find peace
You played me like a six-string and wonder why I gently weep, weep

I show up in your driveway
You tell the cops I'm insane
Honey, please
Weren't you the one who made me a fucking key?

You knew the way to make me fall
So how the hell is it my fault?

You broke me like a promise
And wonder why I'm breaking down
You spin me like a record and wonder why I repeat myself
You loved me all to pieces
And wonder why I can't find peace
You played me like a six-string and wonder why I gently weep, weep, weep

You left me right here, high and dry
And wonder why I'm crying
If you don't love me, I might die
I think I might be dying

You left me right here, high and dry
And wonder why I'm crying
If you don't love me, I might die
I think I might be dying

You spin me like a record and wonder why I repeat myself
You loved me all to pieces
And you wonder why I can't find peace
You played me like a six-string and wonder why I gently weep
