

Why You Had to Leave

Cascada

Our love couldn't have been any better
Each day I seemed to love you more
Nothing was going to break us apart
The truth couldn't have been any further
From what I thought was reality
Now I've been left with a broken heart

I don't know if it's right or wrong
Somehow I'm weak and strong
Find myself on the run
But where do I belong?

It's hard to believe that one day you're here
The next you are gone
It's not that clear for me to see
Why you had to leave
I just can't believe that one day you're here
The next you are gone
It's not that clear for me to see
Why you had to leave

Rewind back to the time when you held me
The air is calm, the stars are bright
Nothing in this world can take you from me
No stop, think of the pain that I'm feeling
I really want to feel your touch
But now I feel helpless, so helpless baby

Since you went away I feel
That some days still conceal it from me
I'll be free, I'm better off alone, oh woah

It's hard to believe that one day you're here
The next you are gone
It's not that clear for me to see
Why you had to leave

It's hard to believe that one day you're here
The next you are gone
It's not that clear for me to see
Why you had to leave
No I can't just believe that one day you're here
And next you are gone
It's not that clear for me to see
Why you had to leave

Why you had to leave
Why you had to leave

I was strong but now I'm broken
Many words been left unspoken
I just can't conceive
Why you had to leave
