

Crashing Down

Caskets

There hasn't been a day where I've not thought about everything you said
But how do I erase these cycles and memories we made along the way
Let's just be honest with each other

So I can tell the truth myself
There are things that I could tell you
I could tell you

I find it hard to make you see
And you'd be a fool if you believed
That my bridges have burned
And I've been through the worst
Oh, how they come crashing down on me

Light, it still guides the way
The one you're holding me back from
Fuck your empathy
I'm done this time because you've thrown it all away
Now you're expecting me to wave goodbye to everything
And put my faith in nothing

I still feel something for you
But it's better if we keep our distance
Yeah, we keep our distance

I find it hard to make you see
And you'd be a fool if you believed
That my bridges have burned
And I've been through the worst
Oh, how they come crashing down on me

Yeah, you keep on crashing
Crashing down on me
Yeah, you keep on crashing
Crashing down on me

Hope's not far away
I can hear it call my name
I breathe in deep, fill my lungs and speak
This is where I want to be

Hope's not far away
I can hear it call my name
I dream so deep, yet I'm losing sleep
But this is where I want to be

Hope's not far away
I can hear it call my name
I dream so deep, yet I'm losing sleep
This is where I want to be

I find it hard to make you see
And you'd be a fool if you believed
That my bridges have burned
And I've been through the worst
Oh, how they come crashing down on me
