

In Vein

Caskets

I feel the world is crushing me, I don't think I can see
The walls that still confine, is it all just by design?
'Cause I made myself believe I can stand through anything
When I'm where I need to be, that's why I'm asking

Why does everything come crashing down
Under the weight of what I thought I found?
Everything around me shatters all the same
It's all in vein, it's all in vein

I fear that time's erasing me, that I am floating nowhere
I am floating nowhere, is this all by design?
I fear that time's erasing me, infinite purgatory
I'm floating nowhere, I'm going nowhere

Why does everything come crashing down
Under the weight of what I thought I found?
Everything around me shatters all the same
It's all in vein, it's all in vein

It's all too heavy, heavy
It's all too heavy, heavy
It's all in vein
It's all in vein
It's all too heavy, heavy
It's all too heavy, heavy
It's all in vein
It's all in vein

Why does everything come crashing down
Under the weight of what I thought I found?

Why does everything come crashing down
Under the weight of what I thought I found?
Everything around me shatters all the same
It's all in vein, it's all in vein