

One More Time

Caskets

Maybe if I could see it
Convince myself that you were perfect
Though I can't admit
But like your memories of me
They're just a blemish
Staining the fabric of my heart
So leave me with this
A taste so bittersweet

You're toxic
To me and the way that I am living
I bury my brain to stop the thinking but it goes on
I've stopped it
Proving to me that I have options
When all you do, is cause more problems
Life keeps pushing back upon me

Every little thing I think
Reverberates around
My willingness to leave it be
When will it stop

Bring me back from the darkness
The dead back to life
Revive my soul, let it come alive
How could you be so heartless
I believed a lie
I wanna feel the world one more time

I'm too numb
Too low to grab the strength to care
We've ignored one another so long, I forget you were there
This feeling
Of pain, rage and awkwardness
A glutton for the punishment
I'll not stand here just taking it in Just taking it in

Bring me back from the darkness
The dead back to life
Revive my soul, let it come alive
How could you be so heartless
I believed a lie
I wanna feel the world one more time
One more time

Can you find the strength to care
When we're alone and no one's there
The pain we feel it can't compare
You took everything

You took everything
You took everything

Maybe now that I've seen it
Convinced myself that you are worthless
So I'll leave you this

A taste so bittersweet

Bring me back from the darkness
The dead back to life
Revive my soul, let it come alive
How could you be so heartless
I believed a lie
I wanna feel the world one more time

You took everything

You took everything
