

Signs

Caskets

Listen to me
I'm not saying it's impossible
Maybe I just need a little sympathy
Though I'm guessing it would help
If I opened up my heart to somebody
I may feel a little better
If I could just get my conscience clear
I wanna disappear

And I've seen the life dragged out of me
But I'm wasting breath (I'm wasting breath)
On every broken dream
I'll wait for an answer
So this spark inside of me
Can burn bright enough to keep me company

I see that

We're all waiting for an answer
But we don't see the signs
I'm hiding in the background while
They all live their lives
There's so much time left
But time scares me the most
Counting down the days until
I am not alone

Look at me
Look at the state of my fate
I'm fading away
My anxiety, I'm at war with myself
Maybe someone can help?
But I'm positive
That with a little bit of strength
I can turn this around
And separate
The darkest of days
Step into the light again

I see that

We're all waiting for an answer
But we don't see the signs
I'm hiding in the background while
They all live their lives
But time scares me the most
Counting down the days until
I am not alone

I might find myself
Once I put myself through hell
Well maybe I need it
Or maybe to realise
That my life's falling away
Listen to me
I'm not saying it's impossible

Maybe I just need a little sympathy
If I opened up my heart

We're all waiting for an answer
