

Say Hello

Cass Elliot

Let's take sometime and get to know one another...
We can solve our problem if we do...
We maybe different, but we won't know till we try...

You learn from me, I learn from you...
Love and understanding open up your eyes
They clear the sky

So let it shows
No, we don't need to stay this world apart for a simple start
Just say hello

And you might have found the answer
With a loving smile and open hands
And I for once believed there's so much to be done

For the love of life and the good of men
Put an end of all that fears and painful doubts
We can work it out

Didn't you know?
Whether its a common sense or sympathy
Just reach out and see...

Say hello
And you may find the answer
Say hello

Love and understanding
Open up your eyes
They clear the sky

So let it show
No we don't need to stay this world apart
For a simple start

Say hello
And you may find the answer
Say hello
