

Estrella

Cass McCombs

I built a ribbon out of moss, plain blue moss
And presented it to you on your birthday
You laughed like the wind was nothing
Your laughter still rattles me
Every day, hour, always

Estrella
Estrella

That was a past life, and that's life
I've been reincarnated into this thing
That resembles nothing of the former man
But your breast stood up to celestial law
And the ribbon of distance was cut

Estrella
Estrella

I was roused and aroused
Only you can rouse me in that way
Like music, language was blown out
Like pulling down the sea
Like plunging into the stars

Estrella
Estrella

If I am delirious
It is because you are harboring my tongue
My faithless tongue

Estrella
Estrella
Estrella
Estrella
Estrella
Estrella
Estrella

Estrella esta noche
Va bien para compartir
Estrella etsa noche
Va bien

Estrella esta noche
Va bien para compartir
Tonight a star goes well to share