Cass McCombs

We entered the tomb of Queen Nefertari
I had on my white suit
You wore a stolen silk sari
Osiris must have saw how you came to be
When you lied to me
You lied to me
And I to you
I guess we deserve each other
No, damned if I do
The whole of my education
I was just getting reamed
Because you lied to me
I guess it's my fault
For being so gullible, less taut
Ok, put her there
Let us agree that fair is fair
Ick! what's this in you palm?
Some kind of balm?

Blow, hydra
Blow, double-edge
Blow, Mata Hari
Blow, singing saved wretch
When you look in the mirror
Tell me, what do you see?
You lied to me
