

Halley

Cassandra Jenkins

Suppose I'll lay a while under the stars
But I don't know where they are
Purple orange is all I can see
Nothing shining on me

When night wraps the sky
Halley, I tried to catch you passing by
Coma tail high above the evening sky
Naked, I tried to see you
But the city where I live is bright and bathed in light

Distant lover, sweet fruit on the vine
Dirty snowball of mine
Tried before and I'm wondering when
Could I see her again?

When night wraps the sky
Halley, I tried to catch you passing by
Coma tail high above the evening sky
With my naked eye, I tried to see you
But the city where I live is bright and bathed in light
