

Rabbit

Cassandra Jenkins

At the end of the day
The shapeless shadow covers the sun
Nothing is left except the light on your face

East rushes West
And West rushes down
Feel that the light
Of the whole of the wideness of night
Is for you

A queen
For the King of the Ghosts
The King

Higher, higher, higher, higher