

So what's it all about? Do you really wanna know?
Do you wanna give or do you just wanna take it all and go?
'Coz you've got to let it out, if you wanna let it in
Got to let a little bit lovin' in to make it all begin

You've got to find time to pick the right time to make a change
'Coz it's a fine time to pick the right time to make a change
So when you gonna learn that it takes all sorts
Don't you think our life would be a little drab
If we had the same thoughts?

'Coz you've taken all the goods
But you leave me with the bads
And if you don't make a change pretty soon
There won't be nothin' comin' back

You've got to find time to pick the right time to make a change
'Coz its a fine time to pick the right time to make a change
I do believe you read the verse, I do believe you wrote the words
I just need to let you out to, let you in again
I just need to feel your love again and again

You' better find time to pick the right time to make a change
'Coz it's a fine time to pick the right time to make a change
So what's it all about? Do you really wanna know?
Do you want to give or do you just want to take it all and go?

'Coz you've got to let it out, if you want to let it in
Got to let a little bit lovin' in and make it all begin

You've got to find time to pick the right time to make a change
You better find time to pick the right time to make a change
I do believe you read the verse, I do believe you wrote the words
I just need to let you out, to let you in again
I just need to feel your love again and again and again and again
