

Please Don't Hate Me

Cat Burns

It's crazy how things can change, it's been almost a year god isn't time strange, you were my everything,
my world,
Had pictures of us hanging up on my wall But I think it's time that I move on

so please don't hate me
for loving somebody new
and letting them love me too this was never part of the plan you have to understand
i always thought it would be you i wont hate you
and letting let them love you too, time flies
pride fades,
after all we did good
and i wouldn't take it back if i could it's crazy how life moves so fast, one minute you're in it then you're crying in a hotel bed couldn't have predicted it so out of the blue you said it yourself this wasn't serving you so there's no point in holding us i think it's time that we move on,

and letting let them love you too,

i don't regret the years we had, we turn like pages back to back, let's forget bout the part where this story gets sad so let go
