

some things don't last forever

Cat Burns

You thought that you'll be together
Still holding on to the person that you first met
Don't have the same conversations
It kills you, you're trying, but it's just not the same

Don't want to say to your friends and your family
You're both so unhappy, end all of the plans that were made
Mm, so don't be embarrassed, 'cause this shit just happens every day

You don't have to hate them, to leave them
Sometimes it just don't work
You can still love them, but free them
Accept it for what it was
'Cause some things don't last forever
You still shared that time together
Yeah, some things don't last forever
You still shared that time together

So you called it quits on a Saturday night
Yeah, you both sat down and said something ain't right
There were so many tears, but there wasn't a fight
Know it was for the best, but in the back of your mind

How do you tell all your friends and your family
You're both so unhappy, end all of the plans that you made?
Mm, so don't be embarrassed, 'cause this shit just happens every day

You don't have to hate them, to leave them
Sometimes it just don't work
You can still love them, but free them
Accept it for what it was
'Cause some things don't last forever
You still shared that time together
Yeah, some things don't last forever
You still shared that time together

It's okay to grow apart, it's okay fall out of love
It's okay to grow apart, it's okay fall out of love
It's okay to grow apart, it's okay fall out of love
It's okay to grow apart, it's okay fall out of love

Yeah, some things don't last forever
You still shared that time together
Guess some things don't last forever
You still shared that time together
