Catch Your Breath

Tangled up inside your web
The chemicals flood my head
Wishing we had never met
Then lightening strikes again

I always swear it's the last time
But you know how to fuck my mind
Then leave me hanging out to dry
Shaking from the side effects

Now look what you've done
My face is numb
I give up, I give up

You should know why
I'm giving you up
My tolerance high
You're only a crutch
You in my bed
I never said no
A rush to the head
Then I'm crashing below
You should know why

The cold sweats come creeping in
Can't guard my heart with shaking hands
Got me to blame I let you in
To live under my skin
All the time it took to find
The ways to fucking say goodbye
But you know everywhere I hide
Living in my silhouette

Now look what you've done
My face is numb
I give up, I give up

You should know why
I'm giving you up
My tolerance high
You're only a crutch
You in my bed
I never said no
A rush to the head
Then I'm crashing below
You should know why
(You should know why)

(You should know why)
(You should know why)

Now look what you've done
My face is numb
I give up, I give up

You should know why
I'm giving you up

My tolerance high
You're only a crutch
You in my bed
I never said no
A rush to the head
You should know why

You in my bed
I never said no
A rush to the head
