

For Now

Catie Curtis

The day is already over
Tomorrow is out of our hands
And all we have left is a moment of rest
Before we start over again

So let go of all your heart's holding
Everything weighing you down
And lay here with me, let the world be
For now

Not a word left to be spoken
Nothing to do that can't wait
When we're skin against skin, human again
In a world we create

Let go of all your heart's holding
Everything weighing you down
And lay here with me, let the world be
For now

Some nights we drift off to music
Sometimes it plays all night long
But if I wake up weary I still want you near me
Like my favorite song

So let go of all your heart's holding
Everything weighing you down
Lay here with me, let the world be
For now
Stay here with me, let the world be
