

Innocent

Catie Curtis

Put your letters away
Let go all of your pieces
You're divided but still, you are not broken
And that pile of stones
Don't take them with you sleeping
Let them fall like stars into the ocean
Of dreams and dream yourself innocent
Winter comes like a wall
That keeps love away from the sun
All the trees on the hill look like they're dying
You might think life is gone
Might try and cut them all down
Burn them just to stay warm for one more winter
Of dreams but dream yourself innocent
The long shadows fight
Everyone is looking for a little light deep in the night
Dream and dream yourself innocent
