

Clandestine Ways (Krokodil Rot)

Cattle Decapitation

The human animal so similar in so many ways to our mammalian counterparts experimented on in torturous ways We've freed the specimens We've taken over the facility
We've captured these torturers
Time to teach them some humility

Ah syringes filled with dihydrodesoxymorphine I've combed the streets in search of hypodermic needles and dirty sharp hoarding All aboard this ship of fools, this train of pain is finally boarding Tendinous disintegration, irreparable musculature goring

Ah these shameless ways we get our fix
we get our kicks off human suffering through puncturing the skin accidentally restructuring Epimysium covering

No need for anesthetics, your research for cosmetics landed you here on my gurney, hurting, gurgling diuretics Tube in your anus leads to open sores creating sepsis

Septic shock sets in no asepsis in my cold aesthetics Apathetic, yet frenetic, simply unsympathetic, shredded limbs needing prosthetics, best to just call off the medics

How does it feel?
Multi-Dermal peel that shall never heal
These clandestine ways of distributing pain Diseased train of thought krokodil rot

Oh this desire to see your limbs on fire
This sick exhilaration of total excruciation

Ah these shameless ways we get our fix
we get our kicks off human suffering
through puncturing the skin accidentally restructuring
Epimysium covering

Now I believe I've seen everything of what this subspecies is capable of producing Why do we do these things?
Is this the meaning of human being?
Bleeding is believing
