

Relentless

Caught a Ghost

Indecision is the only thing holding you in place
A division of your heart 'cause you broken in space
It's the relentless occupation of your sweet little soul

What do you want now?
I cannot grasp it
I don't know why you're
Afraid of asking
Streak through the fire
You're breaking glasses
Are you tryna get away from yourself?

Is it tension of your mind keeps you stuck on the shelf?
Your attention is directed on your pitying self
The dimension of your anguish is entirely felt
But it's the mention of your pain wears on everybody else

What do you want now?
I cannot grasp it
I don't know why you're
Afraid of asking
Streak through the fire
You're breaking glasses
Are you tryna get away from yourself?

I know you're harder
I hear you're tied up
And you're tryna find your way back home
You don't have to worry
Say you're sorry
If you didn't do a damn thing wrong
Your premise is depressing that stepped out for a walk
But I guess you took the hitch to get over the shop
It's no better than to listen 'cos you swim like a rock
You're talking through yo eyelids and you sleeping on a clock

What do you want now?
I cannot grasp it
I don't know why you're
Afraid of asking
Dig through the fire
You're breaking glasses
Are you tryna get away from yourself, self, self!
What do you want now?
I cannot grasp it
I don't know why you're
Afraid of asking
Dig through the fire
You're breaking glasses
Are you tryna get away from yourself?