

HONEST ENOUGH

Cautious Clay

Honest enough
We could play the blame game too

Look how much you livin' for the madness
Somethin' bout the, roses at the end of your mattress
Runnin' through reasons that you thought
Money would stop me
I don't wanna be here too
You've never been up out here to excite
If you wanna trip I'll keep you

Honest enough
We could play the blame game too
Patience in the words I say
Unravel at the sight of me
Honest enough
We could play the blame game too
Patience in the words I say (I say)

It's different than I remember
It's different then I told ya
I don't think we want another fuckin' time to focus
On the things that we need
Just another name to repeat

Catchin' every breath, I'm out of practice
Somethin' bout the, motives of the people you come after
Runnin' through reasons that you thought
Money wouldn't stop me
I don't want to be here too
You've never been up out here to excite
If you wanna trip I'll keep you

Honest enough
We could play the blame game too
Patience in the words I say
Unravel at the sight of me
Honest enough
We could play the blame game too
Patience in the words I say (I say)
