

Air Escapes

Cave In

Hang a self-portrait to cover a crack in the wall
Sweeping her boredom right under a rug in the hall
Stain remover breaks calloused ring finger tip on her left hand
As she explores mountains, rising above our kitchen sink

Vacuum the floor, where some guilt in her glass took a spill
Dust in the attic is hiding her unwritten will
As she explores mountains, rising above our kitchen sink

Blows right by, it blows away
Air escapes our lungs everyday
We know why, but we won't say
Air escapes our lungs everyday
Air escapes our lungs everyday
Air escapes our lungs everyday
