

Solar System

Cavetown

Another day's come round
And I never expected I would look at things the way that I do now
The leaves are on the ground
The sun has shattered into a million tiny pieces crawling all around

Let's turn back time
The solar system is a mystery, all we feel is misery. Wasting time
Watching the stars roll by
Or are they just my memories forming into constellations in the sky

Jesus Christ
My hands are always tingling and the sunshine seems so far behind
Make up your mind
Just forget it all or fight for humankind?
Let's fight for humankind

Another day's come round
And I never expected I could love something the way that I do now
Just look around
What more could someone want than what is here for me right now?
