

Never Gonna Hurt

Cavo

The sign on the wall was the same before
The words are so loud, as they fall from your mouth
I know them miles are sure to come
You needed an out, I needed a change
I know inside you feel the same
And now, I've been waiting here so long
Wish I could let go and just move on
Doesn't matter this time, who's right and who was wrong
Cause it's never gonna hurt like this again
I know it was wrong, we changed so much
You said it was time, you had enough
Now I stare at the wall, for the old lights to come
You needed an out, you needed a change
Somewhere inside I felt the same
I've been everywhere to find you here
Waiting at my door
I've done all I can, but somehow you want more
But it's never gonna hurt like this again
Doesn't matter this time, where you're gone or where I've been
