

Night's Hands

Chalice

A darkened sight ahead
My journey's started with terminus unknown
By dying beams of light
Night's hands create a passage in darkness

With shaky steps I cross
The edge between my future and past days
In living, startling scene
Night's hands are forming patterns in darkness

What drives my soul to this?
I feel the answers are near but cannot reach them
With nature's silent breaths
Night's hands feed the ideas surreal

The swish of aspen leaves
Reminds me of the pages written for us
And as my shields go down
Night's hands are shaping my visions of darkness

Oh, the days of belief - I cannot recall
Heading to light once again - my path goes onward
Out there's a signal divine - but is it for us?
In the heart of the night I hear my echoes

Conflict of neurons and blood
No rhodopsin could aid vision of blind minds
The robin's fading out
Night's hands are moulding landscapes around me

I read my prayers and rush
Towards unknown, my mind flies onward
Embracing lonely heart
Night's hands are bleeding the blood of my old wounds..!

Oh, the days of belief - I cannot recall
Heading to light once again - my path goes onward
Out there's a signal divine - but is it for us?
In the heart of the night...

I see the shades of my fate
My role as a pawn on the chessboard of life
Will see the end draw nigh
Now!
Who draws the lines between wrong and our rights?

In the heart of the night
Mysterious hands guide my way with their signs
To choose a righteous ride
Now!
The multiple shades of dark gray become bright
In the making tonight

Oh, the days of belief - I cannot recall
Heading to light once again - my path goes onward
Out there's a signal divine - but is it for us?
In the heart of the night...
