

Before We Step Inside

Charlie Burg

Before we step inside you should know
You said as you lit your cigarette
And your nose glowed red
I felt it just a few days ago
This ache in my bones
It's as if I caught a glimpse of the end

I nod my head, hold the door
We step inside and we dance all night
Til we both lose sight of the end

Got a thousand stories or more, I could share the little details
As you look at your phone all night
But only one of them counts
It's the one that you tell
When nobody's around

I nod my head, hold the door
We step inside and we dance all night
Til we both lose sight of the end