

Climb

Charlie Cunningham

Why would you do that climb,
If you saw how it ends?
And it's taken us hours, darlin'
Through the cold day back then

We couldn't climb
We don't understand
It doesn't seem all that bad
Pretty glad we're standing
We couldn't climb
We don't understand
It's just we landed here
After all these years

I can't tell what I saw
But I know they won't find us anymore
We might crumble, we might fall
And there's still fear inside of us all

How could I know?
That was the beginning of all the trouble
How could I know?
That we're still left digging through the rubble

What you don't know
Won't hurt you, they Say so

Though I've failed
And though I've sighed
No matter how hard we've tried
If we stop stallin'
Maybe we'll arrive
What's one more hill to climb?

All we see
Miles and miles of
Endless hills and sky
If we start walkin'
Maybe we'll arrive
What's one more hill to climb?
