

She Knows Just How To Touch Me

Charlie Rich

Sometimes my world feels like it's crumbling
My life starts unraveling at the ends
Sometimes I just can't keep from stumbling
And when I get up, I fall right down again

But I don't let my troubles get me down
'Cause they're somewhere waiting at the close of day
And she knows just how to touch me
To make the pain go away

She knows just how to touch me
She knows the words to say
She knows just how to touch me
To make the pain go away

Each time I found out things aren't what they seem
I become so disgusted with it all
Some folks thrive on knocking down your dreams
And then they stand back to see how far you'll fall

And when my hopes lie scattered on the ground
She picks 'em up and says you're gonna win
And she knows just how to touch me
And make me believe it all again

She knows just how to touch me
When others reach the point of giving in
She knows just how to touch me
To make me believe it all again
