

Right Man for the Job

Charlie Robison

John Henry moved a mountain outta nothing but a hammer and sweat

Well he beat that damn machinery down he said, "you ain't seen nothing yet"

Cause he had himself a woman, well she must have been something like you

When you're a man with a plan, got a hammer in your hand ain't nothing you can't do

Chorus:

When you're the right man

You're the right man

You're the right man

You're the right man for the job

Well there used to be a dude named Samson and he had himself some hair

Every skinny cowboy at the Pyramid Bar said the gene pool just ain't fair

But he went down to the barber cause he had to wear a tux that night

And even though he didn't ook like Hanson y'all, he made Delilah giggle with delight

Chorus 2:

He was the right man

He was the right man

He was the right man

Hew was the right man for the job

Bridge:

Well you loved yourself a carpenter, he never ever went to school

He was thick as ol' brown gravy and he had the wrong kind of tool

Solo

Well I ain't got no big muscles and I ain't got lots of hair

And I ain't no sheik from Arabia, just a fellow with some love to spare

So if you come back here to Texas, girl, from wherever you're at tonight

I'm gonna kiss you like you've never been kissed before for the rest of your doggone life

Chorus 3:

Cause I'm the right man

I'm the right man

I'm the right man

Yeah I'm the right man

The right man for the job

Chorus 4:

I'm the right man

I'm the right man

I'm the right man
I'm the right man
The right man for the job
