

Nothing New

Charlotte Day Wilson

Are we really this far gone?
We yell upstream to watch it fall
Have we still the faintest clue?
The past repeats to nothing new

Every day is a shot in the dark and we're tested
Fate [?] more or less than
It's nothing new, oh-oh-oh, oh

I know my ties when I'm cutting loose
'Cause I'm not gonna waste my time
And I'm locked in a noose
But if I can't help myself, I'm giving in, in Like all of the times I've held you up to let you win

But it's hard, and it hurts, and I'm tired
'Cause I run when you chase me
Alone, I'm losing strength

Are we really this far gone?
We yell upstream to watch it fall
Have we still the faintest clue?
The past repeats to nothing new