

Warrior

Charlotte Martin

Deep in
Deep inside the hiding places
Where nobody ever faces
There you are

Tumbling
When the world thinks that you're happy
You've been anything but happy
But you've come so very far

It's not so bad
You're still breathing
It's not too bad
You're still hearing me

Struck by lightening
Everything frightening
The warrior
Up to ten thousand
Too many mountains
The warrior
The warrior

Shoulder
Needed several thousand shoulders
Maybe it's because you're older
Holding everybody up

Your friends call
You don't have a way to stay strong
You don't have a soul to talk to
You're the bravest one of all

It's not so bad
You're still living
It's not too bad
You're still fighting
On

Struck by lightening
Everything frightening
The warrior
Up to ten thousand
Too many mountains
The warrior

You've got to face it
You've got to start to move forward
Move forward
Isolated
Nobody understands torture
Like the warrior

Falling and flying
Crawling and crying
It's perfect weather
For me and for you

There's no denying it
You've got more courage than
Most I've ever known

It's not so bad
You're still breathing
It's not too sad
You're still here with me

Struck by lightening
Everything frightening
The warrior
Up to ten thousand
Too many mountains
The warrior
The warrior

You got to face it
You've got to start to move forward
Move forward
Isolated,
Nobody understands torture
Like the warrior.
