August

Chase Atlantic

You said you wanted to ride away from everything
Keep pedaling, we're on our way out
I never said we should try to be anything
Keep meddling with my brain now

Well, she said, "How do we expect to be anything
When we don't try to be anything?
And why the hell do you always ignore me when I'm calling
Are you busy doing better things?"

In August now
In August girl
In August
I want this in August now

I wasn't given the time to be settling
Leave everything, we're on our way around
She took a piece of my mind without leveling
Keep balancing or else we'll fall down

She said, "How do we expect to be anything
When we don't try to be anything?
And why the hell do you always ignore me when I'm calling
Are you busy doing better things?"

In August now, it's calling out
In August
I want this, I want this
In August now, it's calling out
In August
I want this, I want this

She said, "How do we expect to be anything
When we don't try to be anything?
And why the hell do you always ignore me when I'm calling
Are you busy doing better things?"

In August now, it's calling out
In August
I want this, I want this
In August now, it's calling out
In August
I want this, I want this
